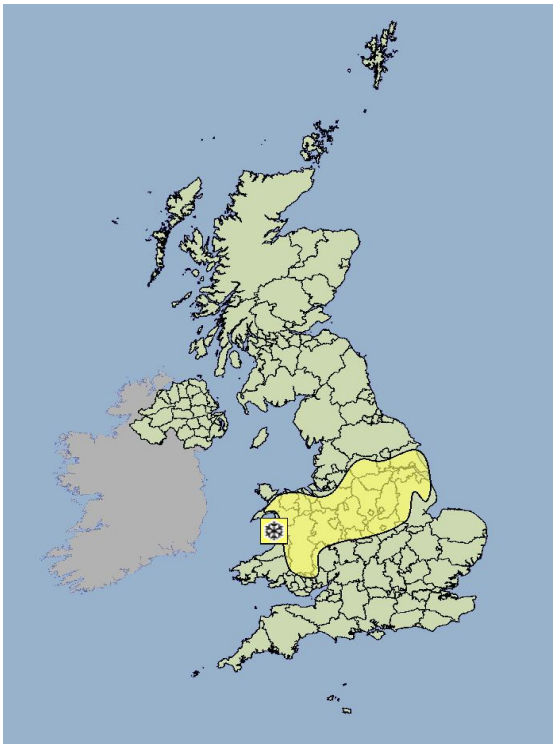
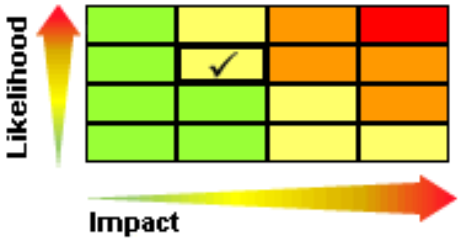
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
An area of rain will arrive into southwestern parts of England and Wales later on Wednesday evening. This will move northeastwards and turn increasingly to snow over the high ground of Wales, parts of the Midlands and into southern parts of northern England overnight and through Thursday morning, with some snow to lower levels later. Much of the lower ground will see little if any snow accumulating, but 1-3 cm is likely in some places, with 5 cm above 200 metres and possibly 10 cm on roads above 300 metres.

There remains some uncertainty in the northward extent of the sleet and snow into Thursday morning, before it clears eastwards.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow

Valid from 00:05 on Thu, 08th Mar 2018 until 11:00 on Thu, 08th Mar 2018

Sleet and snow for upland areas and some lower ground as well overnight and during Thursday morning.

Some roads and railways are likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services.
